Workforce patterns and shifts across regions and sectors in Greece during the recession (2008-17)

Prodromos-Ioannis Prodromidis (KEPE)

Ioanna Kountouri (KEPE intern)

The paper studies the evolution of regional employment, unemployment, non-participation and sectoral employment in a number of sectors (sectors that are important to Western Greece's workforce) across Greece, and empirically isolates the trend, seasonal and intermediate (cyclical) effects. It finds evidence of regional differences that are useful for territorial development policy planning in Greece.
